Resource Quantity (POINTS)

The number on each materials card represents the quantity of that particular material collected, which corresponds to the total points that card holds. To calculate your round score, add together the total numbers of each materials card you've collected at the end of the round. For instance, if you possess (4) 2-Brick cards, adding them together will yield a total of 8 points for that round.

OVERVIEW:

In The Big Bad Wolf, players embark on a thrilling adventure of taking risks and bluffing as they exchange face-down cards with each other. Upon receiving a card, players face a crucial decision: they can either choose to pass it to someone else or flip the card, in hopes of earning valuable materials (points). However, flipping it comes with a gamble, as revealing a wolf could result in losing those hard earned materials.
