The chosen Player now has "2 options,"

- Option 1 - PASS it to another player of choice, including any added face-up card(s).
- Option 2 - FLIP the card.

This continues from player to player until someone flips the face-down card. If a player flips a materials card, then they keep that materials card along with all face-up materials card(s) that were included, face-up in front of them. The number value on each card added together will determine the total points you currently have. If they flip a WOLF card, please go to "what happens if I flip a WOLF," section

Important:

Players can only pass to other players that have not yet been passed to during that turn. And only the last player to receive the passed card(s) can pass back to the player who started that turn. If the card comes back to the starting player, then that player must flip the card.
